Less than 200km southwest of Rarotonga and just a 45 minute flight, Mangaia is the southernmost island of the Cook Islands. It is the second largest island and is endowed with four distinct geographical regions making it four islands in one. Truly a beautiful island with features such as the old limestone reef, called Makatea, with magnificent views and enjoy adventures exploring through limestone caves. A very unique and remote island – a great island to experience.
